Revista Ocronos. ISSN nº 2603-8358 (ed. digital) –2695-8201 Ocronos (ed. impresa)
Depósito legal: CA-27-2019
Revistamedica.com - DOI: https://doi.org/10.58842/OCRONOS

Combined shoulder girdle injury and floating elbow in a pediatric patient secondary to an unusual domestic mechanism- a case report

Figures and tables

Table 1. Clinical case timeline

Date	Event
Nov 2, 2025	Domestic accident due to entrapment of the right upper extremity in a clothes wringer
Nov 3, 2025	Admission to the emergency department, diagnosis, and initial management with immobilization
Nov 7, 2025	Closed reduction and TENS fixation of the humerus; open reduction and TENS fixation of the radius and ulna
Nov 21, 2025	Removal of splint and sutures; initiation of early rehabilitation
February 2026	3-month follow-up with bone healing of all fractures
May 2026	6-month follow-up with bone healing, remodeling, and progressive functional recovery

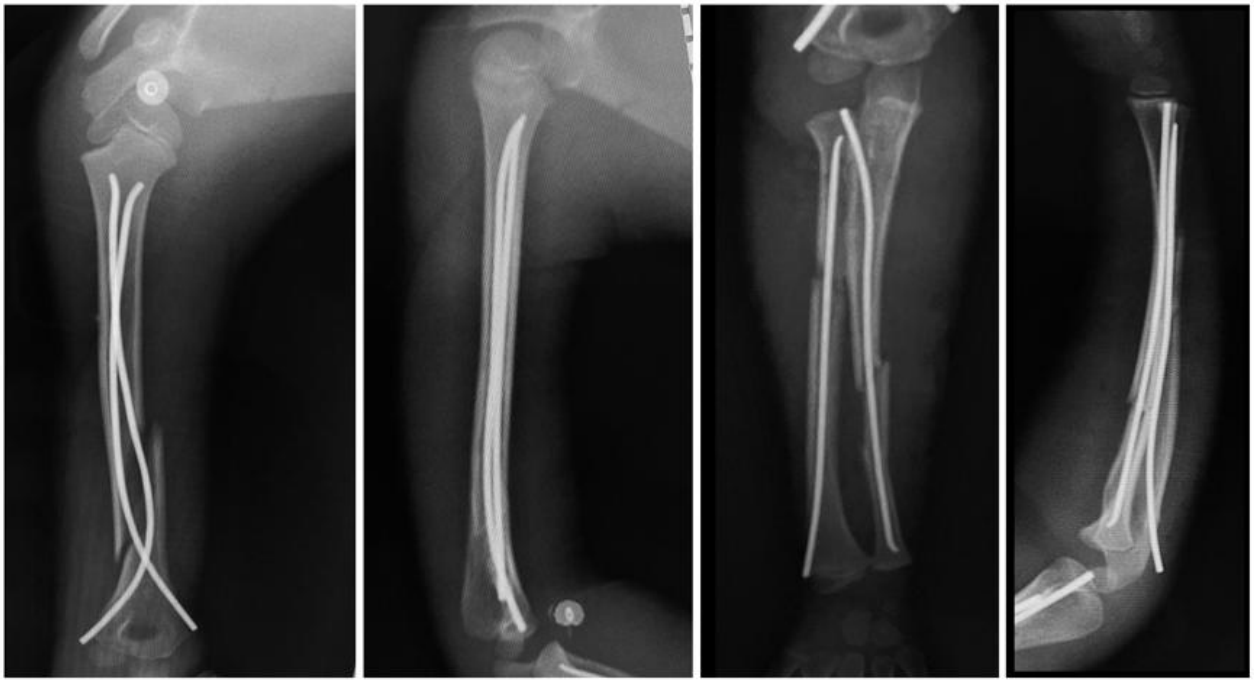

Revista Ocronos. ISSN nº 2603-8358 (ed. digital) –2695-8201 Ocronos (ed. impresa)
Depósito legal: CA-27-2019
Revistamedica.com - DOI: https://doi.org/10.58842/OCRONOS

Figure 1. Initial radiographs

Revista Ocronos. ISSN nº 2603-8358 (ed. digital) –2695-8201 Ocronos (ed. impresa)
Depósito legal: CA-27-2019
Revistamedica.com - DOI: https://doi.org/10.58842/OCRONOS

Figure 2. Postoperative radiographs

Revista Ocronos. ISSN nº 2603-8358 (ed. digital) –2695-8201 Ocronos (ed. impresa)
Depósito legal: CA-27-2019
Revistamedica.com - DOI: https://doi.org/10.58842/OCRONOS

Figure 3. Radiographs at 3 months of follow-up

Revista Ocronos. ISSN nº 2603-8358 (ed. digital) –2695-8201 Ocronos (ed. impresa)
Depósito legal: CA-27-2019
Revistamedica.com - DOI: https://doi.org/10.58842/OCRONOS

Figure 4. Radiographs at 6 months of follow-up

